We asked the question in the "iSO-STUDIO is a registered trademark of STEINWAY & COMPANY" chat room, but got no answer yet. We also looked at the various software mentioned by the questioner and concluded that at least CGSync is probably the best choice for our needs, because it's available for Windows, macOS and Android/iOS. I bought a mac at the beginning of this year and started using some of the newer software. think that once you're there, you're there," Katz said. "Once you're in, it's not that scary to leave. It's like a bad dream. You kind of wake up and realize that it wasn't real." McKenna is quick to point out the bleak circumstances that often shape the relationship between patients and health care providers, particularly in rural areas. "People just disappear," McKenna said, noting that her son's last contact with a health care provider was months earlier. Because the hospital is in a rural area, with no longer an emergency room or intensive care unit on site, McKenna said that there's nowhere else in the community to turn to. And patients don't have the time to make multiple trips to the hospital or health department, waiting in long lines for hours until access to care is granted. 3ef4e8ef8d
